HUGE COMMITTEE IS BEING FORMED FOR COL. MALLORY

THE PROHIBITIONISTS OF ALABAMA ALMOST CERTAIN TO CHOOSE O'NEAL AS THEIR LEADER.

By H. A. Thompson
Birmingham Age Jan 26—What is expected to be the largest political campaign committee ever numbered in Alabama is being organized by prohibitionists and friends of Col. H. S. D. Mallory of Selma the defeated gubernatorial candidate a two years ago.

Captain Frank S. White and Fred Jackson of Birmingham will be offered the chairmanship of the committees for the state and Jefferson county respectively. No formal announcement will be made until a definite decision is reached by Governor O'Neal looking to calling in extra session of the legislature, but it is certain Col. Mallory will be a candidate for Governor two years hence.

Friends of Colonel Mallory have been making a quiet but systematic investigation of affairs over the state for several weeks. Thousands of prohibitionists and friends of the Dallas county man are said to have pledged their support for another battle in 1914.

It is claimed by friends of the defeated candidate of two years ago that hundreds of former supporters of Governor O'Neal will lend their support to Colonel Mallory.

The defeat of Colonel Mallory in 1910 closed one of the most brilliant cause campaigns in the history of Alabama. The lines between the O'Neal and Mallory forces were drawn closely in the anti-slavery campaign of 1908. The primary vote of O'Neal the following year fell short 17,000 of the against the amendment to the constitution.

The announcement of Colonel Mallory as a candidate for Governor will have a far-reaching effect on the political situation in Alabama. For over two years Lieutenant Governor Walter D. Seed an avowed prohibitionist has been in active candidate for the Governor's office. He has visited nearly every county in the state since the last election.

Captain Kolb Candidate
Captain Renshaw F. Kolb Committee of Agriculture and who is known in every corner of Alabama has been an announced candidate for the office for several months.

For several months former Governor B. B. Comer has had the people of Alabama guessing whether he would be again a candidate for that office. He has made many speeches on railroad rate legislation but has made no formal announcement as to the office to which he would aspire.

The one fact that seems certain is that if he seeks office two years hence, it will be United States Senator and not Governor. It is known the prohibitionists are not in full sympathy with the former governor many of them openly charging him with being backed by powerful influences in Birmingham that are not in full sympathy with the prohibition cause. That Ex-Governor Comer would not have the support of the prohibitionists for Governor was a statement made in prohibition circle Saturday, but that he would be an important factor in the campaign was not denied.

Should he not enter the race it is almost certain he would throw his support to Charles Henderson, a Troy Chairman of the Railroad Commission of Alabama and who is said will be a candidate to succeed Governor O'Neal.

Probs Will be Active

While the election is nearly two years off and many changes are possible it is certain the prohibitionist will be active from this time on. That the hero centered on the standard bearer for 1914 is the pos-tive statement made by close personal friends of Colonel Mallory and men recognized as among the leading prohibitionists of the state.

Other well known persons have been mentioned in connection with the Governor's office two years hence but those who seem certain candidates are Col. H. S. D. Mallory, Captain Reuben F. Kolb, Lieutenant Governor Walter D. Seed, Charles Henderson.

WHAT THE SOUTH HAS

Mr. Clarence J. Owens Returns to Washington

Washington Jan 26—Dr. Clarence J. Owens, Managing Director of the Southern Commercial Congress returned here today from Mobile, Ala. where he went to make arrangements for the fifth annual convention of the congress which will be held in Mobile coincident with the opening of the Panama Canal September 1913.

Dr. Owens conferred in Mobile with Albert P. Bush, director of the Congress who will be the official host of the convention and with William H. Ambrecht, president of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce.

Three big features were decided upon as part of the convention which will be an all general theme the election of the South to the Panama Canal Latin America and world commerce. There will be a great water pageant in Mobile harbor which will then have 27 feet of water participated in by ships from the gulf ports and vessels of the U. S. Navy in excursion of the many thousands of delegates to the convention to the Panama Canal and after the convention a tour of boat a hundred delegates through the principal South and Central American capitals where they will be guests of officials of the chambers of commerce of these countries.

The fifth annual convention which will be attended by more than 10,000 leading business men of the south will be international in scope. Secretary of State Knox has invited the Pan American countries to participate in the convention and John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union has officially endorsed the Congress and the convention. Diplomatic representatives of the Pan American countries will make addresses at the convention.

The announcement of Colonel Mallory as a candidate for Governor will have a far-reaching effect on the political situation in Alabama. For over two years Lieutenant Governor Walter D. Seed an avowed prohibitionist has been in active candidate for the Governor's office.

DOCTOR MAKES HALF DOZEN STITCHES IN MAN'S HEART

New Orleans Jan 26—Stabbing a half dozen stitches in a negro's heart while almost blinded from blood which spouted from that organ was part of a remarkable operation performed today by Dr. Joseph A. Dunn, house surgeon at Charity hospital. The patient, George Lee, was stabbed in a row with a woman who was conscious throughout the struggle and conversed with those about the table. Hospital attendants say he will live.

Snatching his scalpel into his jacket made by the stab, the surgeon opened the surface down to the outer casting of the concealed heart. The delicate operation of opening the outer casting, said to have been done successfully but once, first only was then accomplished. Dr. Dunn had the knife in motion in racing when volume of blood held in the neck by a clot was spouted into the surgeon's palm, causing blindness. In closing his work more difficult a five inch incision was made and blood that would have eventually caused death was released. The wounded man was then stitched together and the flow of blood successfully stopped.

While the surgeon was trying to suture the second stitch the patient complained.

I've got a pain in my heart doctor.

Dr. Dunn refused to discuss the operation. So great was the interest in the operation from that nurse we almost a failure when telling of what happened.

Death of Mrs. Bennett

West Mother of Bennett Boys Dies in Dallas Texas Saturday Evening—Burial Will be Made in Dothan

Mrs. J. Bennett died Saturday evening at five o'clock at the home of her son F. C. Bennett in Dallas Tex. where she had gone several months ago on a visit. She had been seriously ill for several weeks and S. B. and W. H. Bennett the two sons living in Dothan were summoned and they remained there till her death. H. B. Bennett arrived today and the rest of the family with the corpse will arrive probably on the 10-12th inst. tomorrow and the interment will be made in the city cemetery.

Prior to her visit to Texas a few months ago she had made her home with her son in Dothan where the family has lived for many years with the exception of a year or two when they resided in Texas.

TO THE PUBLIC

Captain and Mrs. Moon of the Baldwin County wish to make the request that any one having any cast off garments of clothing to sell them up by phone 333 or else send them to their head quarters on St. Andrews Street across from the city fire department.

Capt. Moon states that they have demands made upon them almost every day for clothing and quilts and bed clothing of all kinds. They have already given away several hundred garments this winter to needy families. Just now there is a couple of families with several children each both widows who are badly in need of clothing. So any one having clothing which he no longer needs at all would be doing a kindness by sending it around to the Salvation Army or by calling them by phone and they will call for same.

Men's clothing, women's clothing and children's clothing are needed.

WANTED—Young lady for office work. Small salary to start. Phone 4400.

WATER SHOOTS THRO' CREVASS

UPPER LOSS OF FEE AND FARMERS STOCK ANTICIPATED TRAIN SERVICE ALONG LINE NOT INTERRUPTED

New York Jan 26—Gen. Daniel Sickles sat amid the war relics in his Fifth ave. at home tonight expecting momentary arrest in a suit brought by the state to recover $25,400 for which he has failed to account. He is charged as chairman of the New York monument commission. Will, his wife was his son Stanton and an aged negro waiter. Save for them he was alone the order of the attorney's arrest found him this afternoon by Supreme Court Justice Bush of Albany and a city of the complaint placed in Sheriff Barber's hands this evening.

Train service on the river side division of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad running within a few miles of the British levee had not been interrupted. It is not believed any lives have been lost. The water is spreading very slowly filling up the depressions and the natural stream.

The planters in the Black Phœnix basin have been preparing for the emergency and little is expected to be done to day.

It is still too early to tell the odds of the levee at the break until the levee is constructed of the buckshot earth the teller has expressed that the levee will not hold.

The serious feature of the breach is the fact that during this emergency the chances are that it cannot be closed during the 14 or 15 hours which may last until May and the expense of caring for a hole and labor in the overflowed section for two or three months will be heavy and a great burden.

Mr. J. J. Stiner and his two daughters of Macomb are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Heath yesterday.

The Era

Above all things, this era stands for temperance, industry, economy, efficiency. The people and the business men never in such bad repute as they are today.

Men who boast on throwing the era to the Capital spurns contemptuous respect, but they do not command respect. For the first time in the history of the world, we are witnessing the opposition of voting government to a bank. We are witnessing the abominable which and nothing up but mirth.

The highest ambition of every good business man today is to be a good public servant, and this was the controlling impulse in the heart of Thomas Jefferson.

Thomas Jefferson carried no expense book. It was five feet ten inches tall and weighed one hundred fifty pounds. He used all the body he had.

He rode his horse until his eightieth year. Two postillion horses that he owned and loved have come down to us in history. One is Wildfire and the other is Eagle.

This horse Wildfire, Thomas Jefferson rode up the hill to the Capitol, where he died. Eagle is a post and went with him and took the oath of office as President of the United States. Not only did he do this once, but four years later he did the same, riding the same horse.

Was any horse ever so honored before? To have carried on his back the kingliest man that America has produced, on such a momentous occasion, not only once but twice, and twice with strength.

The last time that President Jefferson took oath of office he had to ride a saddle captain of militia who insisted on acting as escort for him.

Jefferson simply beat him to it, and after taking the oath of office he mounted old Eagle, turned his head toward the White House and rode at an easy trot down Pennsylvania Avenue. He met the escort in brass buttons, gilt and braid and feathers coming up the street, looking for that man. Jefferson declined their invitation to turn about and ride at their head, entering the Capitol, on the back that he had worked to do.

To him there was something greater than military display, something nobler than to smock a horse and attract attention. And that one thing to him was to serve humanity. The Code of Honor.

Jefferson was a great writer and had a facility, distinct literary style, all his own. He gave us a touch in the use of the period. His words always reached us, his wordings clear, distinctly, accurately, forcible and well. The idea was clear in his mind and that he had skill to express it just as clearly on paper. He could not make a speech however. He was no orator. And the few times he attempted to speak in public places he always carried his manuscript with him. There was one time when he attempted to make a speech without his manuscript, and failed, sitting down without giving his message.

Jefferson has founded the University of Virginia, and the enterprise was fairly under way when down to that students were guilty of gross misconduct.

Jefferson believed in the honor system. He founded the public school system of America on this idea. He had such a faith in humanity that he believed if the schools were not too much interfered with they would do what was right, best and proper. Jefferson believed in the dignity of the child. His faith was in the "deos."

Jefferson said, "This country is governed best that is governed least."

He believed in doing away with corporal punishment. He did not believe in the death sentence. He did not believe in slavery, and by his will all of his slaves were freed. And those slaves he had not bought that came to him by inheritance are now a part of his family.

But on the particular occasion in mind, when the boys had forgotten their better manhood and had visited an indignity in the way of basing on one of their members, Jefferson appeared in the assembly room of the college and asked the principal's permission to speak to the boys. He began by saying, "Young gentlemen, you are sons of Virginians." -here his voice faltered. He hesitated, might he refer to speak and, bursting into tears, sat down.

Nothing that mortal man could possibly have planned could have been more effective. The powerful word of wisdom to the students was unanswered but every one in the room who had anything to do with the particular adjustment was humiliated absolutely and undone.

Jefferson always insisted upon health and even in his old age, for his sixtieth year, suffered a headache for ten years and a weaker and a weaker to the day of his death. Jefferson was always good, always considerate, the founder of the American Club. He once said, "No man is so wholly right that he can say that anyone else is wholly wrong."

If ever a man grew old gracefully it was with Thomas Jefferson. His hope for the race, his faith in the plain people, never faltered. What this country needs is to catch up with Thomas Jefferson.

LOVE AND LIFE.

I tell you this is a pretty good world, if we only love somebody in it, says Ingersoll.

Love is the only thing that will pay ten per cent interest on the money. Love is the only thing in which the height of extravagance is the last degree of economy.

The man who has the love of one splendid woman is a rich man. Joy is wealth and love is the legal tender of the soul. Love is the only thing that will pay ten per cent to his brother and sister both.

I tell you it is an infamous word and infamous feeling—a man who is "possess" who is going to govern his family; and when he speaks let all the rest of them be still, some mighty idea is about to be launched from his mouth. Do you know this man?

The man who has gained the love of one splendid, pure good woman his life has been a success, no matter if he dies in the ditch, and if he gets to be a crowned monarch of the world and never had the love of one splendid heart, his life has been an unsuccess.

If you are the grand emperor of the world, you had better be the grand emperor of one loving and tender heart, and also the grand emperor of years. The man who has really won the love of one good woman in this world, I do not care if he dies a hogger, his life has been a success.

Imagine a young man and a young woman courting walking out in the moonlight and the nightingale singing a song of peace and love, as though the stars touched her heart—singing them stopping here in the moonlight and singing and singing and saying "Now, here let's talk who's been."

I have known men that would treat a woman with such tenderness as you tell that thing which pushes them about around a heart, and with such honor. If you tell that man of getting into the particular honor, I have known men that would treat that heart and that heart with a woman but not their pocket-book—not a dollar bill.

I have not the slightest respect for the idea of those short-haired women and long-haired men who do not see the institution of the family as the foundation of the institution of marriage, but I hold in great contempt the husband who would enslave his wife. I hold in greater contempt what is anything in his family except love and tenderness and kindness.

What is wealth compared with the love of a splendid woman? People tell me it is a very good doctrine for rich folks, but it won't do for poor folks. I tell you that there is more love in the huts and homes of the poor, than in the mansions of the rich, and the meanest hut with love in it is a palace fit for the gods, and a palace without that is fit only for wild beasts.

I regard marriage as the holiest institution among men. With out the flesh there is no human agency. There is a family, a family relation there is no life worth living. Every good government is made up of good families. The unit of government is the family and anything that tends to destroy the family is perfectly devilish and infamous.

But on the particular occasion in mind, when the boys had forgotten their better manhood and had visited an indignity in the way of basing on one of their members, Jefferson appeared in the assembly room of the college and asked the principal's permission to speak to the boys. He began by saying,

"Young gentlemen, you are sons of Virginians."

—here his voice faltered.

He hesitated, might he refer to speak and, bursting into tears, sat down.

Nothing that mortal man could possibly have planned could have been more effective. The powerful word of wisdom to the students was unanswered but every one in the room who had anything to do with the particular adjustment was humiliated absolutely and undone.

Jefferson always insisted upon health and even in his old age, for his sixtieth year, suffered a headache for ten years and a weaker and a weaker to the day of his death. Jefferson was always good, always considerate, the founder of the American Club. He once said,

"No man is so wholly right that he can say that anyone else is wholly wrong."

If ever a man grew old gracefully it was with Thomas Jefferson. His hope for the race, his faith in the plain people, never faltered. What this country needs is to catch up with Thomas Jefferson.

U. S. OFFICIALS AWAIT DECISION OF ENGLAND

Washington Jan 24. Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coastwise ships from toll of Panama Canal having been received at London, it is incumbent upon the British office to come to a decision as to the continuance of the negotiations to determine whether or not fort shall be made to adjust the supposed difference by further exchange or by accepting Secretary Knox's offer to exchange ratifications of the Knob Creek general arbitration treaty as submitted to the Senate, and refer to a special commission the task of finding the actual facts as a basis for possible arbitration.

Officials here are awaiting the decision with interest because upon it depends the probability of President Taft reaching a satisfactory settlement before he leaves the office.

Washington Jan 24. Secretary Knox's reply to Sir Edward Grey on the Panama question was found unsatisfactory in those events papers which commented upon it. The Westminster Gazette which is based upon as the mouthpiece of the government here, Knox's suggestion leaves the door open for a long series of bickering which might do much to undermine the good relationship between the two countries.

HEAD OF TURKISH ARMY SHOT DEAD

Constantinople Jan 24. Sultan Pasha the master was minister at a number of the Turkish army was shot dead during the demonstration which preceded the restoration of the sultan. Thirdly, it is reported.

Sultan Bey and Sultan R. have given explicit orders that no one should be shot. Sultan Pasha's aide-de-camp fled from a window of the palace to safety and his companion and they returned the fire. Thirdly, Sultan Pasha was minister and you will find of Turkish under a man of great physical and mental strength. He was close to 60 years of age, and was characterized as the best commander in chief Turkey possessed in recent times.

Sultan Pasha was in personal command of the troops that checked the advance of the Bulgarians at the Edirneka line. He reached that fortress in time to gather together the scattered troops after the battle of Telchent and notwithstanding the disorganization of the army and the ravages of disease brought about a sight of union among the disorganized soldiers through good fellowship. He has been credited with having put the Turkish army in better condition than it had ever been before.

TWO SISTERS MEET IN MORNING AFTER 18 YEARS

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 26.—This is the hundredth moment of my life," exclaims Mrs. Dr. John Byron of New York shortly after she had met her sister, Mrs. Lula (Brennan) of that city, last Friday afternoon. They had been separated after a separation of eighteen years. Mrs. Byron reached the city this afternoon from New Orleans and was driven to the home of Mrs. Brennan, in West End (see the above). The meeting between the two was most affecting. There was a relaxation and the two in turn clasped joyfully.

SEVEN AMERICANS ARE KILLED BY PHILIPPINES

Manila, Jan. 26.—The local wire telegraph has picked up an unsigned message presumably from Tam Boano, which gives the first news of the death of Captain McNally of the Philippine army, and seven of his men in a fight with Moros. Three of those who lost their lives were Philippines. The wounded also had fourteen wounded. The loss of the Moros is not given.

It is believed the fight was in the neighborhood of Cole. When we are down in that direction and no news have been received.

AN UNCOMMON FIND.

Laundries that launder "Just right"—mounting "Just the way you want"—are by no means common to your home. In doing up that way, don't change—you have a jewel! But if your laundry comes home frayed, torn, yellow looking—you'd better try us. Try us one week. If we don't please you, drop us. If we do, drop your soiled clothes into our basket.

The meeting between the two was most affecting. There was a relaxation and the two in turn clasped joyfully.

Vanity.

To mark that men who are most vain
I placed by me, a modest man,
Would look exceeding dull and drearif.

It makes me laugh to see my friends
Puffed up with senseless rank
Conceit,
When well I know that I each one
In work or wit with ease can beat.

Pride.

But most of all the pride I have
And men who hold themselves apart.

And daily I give thanks that I Am blessed with such an humble heart.

Saturday was marked by a brilliant affair, which was a fitting close to a week of unusual gaiety, when Mrs. E. R. Malone entertained at a six course luncheon at one o'clock before luncheon several games of nations were played at tables arranged in the library and living room, after which the guests were invited into the softly lighted dining room where the color scheme of pink was prettily carried out in the pink shaded candles and centerpiece of pink carnation in an exquisite crystal basket. Appropriate hand-painted cards representing baskets of pink carnations marked the places of Mrs. Barnett of Geneva, Mrs. D. C. Carmichael, Mrs. J. W. Grant, Mrs. W. H. Grant, Mrs. J. A. Flory, Mrs. W. C. Fritter, Miss Gladys Fritter, Mrs. C. E. Harmon, Mrs.

Tuesday or Wednesday and the eastern districts by Thursday and will be followed by the pressure and lower temperatures that will reach the northeastern portion of the country by the end of the week, in which time another disturbance should appear in the far northwest. Over the interior, central and southern districts west of the Rocky Mountains fair weather will prevail during the greater portion of the week, while in the South generally fair weather is indicated during the second half of the week."

PLACED IN MARBLE CRYPT

Another event of importance was the elaborate six o'clock dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clinton, on Saturday evening. The dining room was tastefully decorated in maroon and covers were laid for eight. Japanese lantern place cards bore the name of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Malone, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Malone, besides the general hosts and hostesses.

RAIN PREDICTED FOR THE SOUTH FIRST HALF WEEK

Washington, Jan. 26.—Pressure distribution over the northern hemisphere today according to the weekly weather bureau bulletin, indicates that after some rain and snows tonight and Monday from the upper lake region eastward the weather will be generally fine over middle and northern Michigan east of the Mississippi river during the first half of the week, while in the South there will be rains.

"Following the eastward movement of a depression now over the upper lake region and Ontario," says the bulletin, "there will be a considerable fall in temperature north of the Ohio river and the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, but unusually low temperatures are expected.

A disturbance will appear over the North Pacific coast and British Columbia early in the week, attended by rains and snows. It will move eastward and southward, reaching the northern plains states erton, the famous detective, wrote in 1866, but which has never been published. Pinkerton describes vividly how a plot had been laid to kill Lincoln in Baltimore on his way to Washington and how he made the plan to avert the disaster. He accompanied Lincoln from Philadelphia to Washington. The plot was foiled in Philadelphia by the dinner that had been discovered and he put himself absolutely in Pinkerton's hands. Referring to Pinkerton's interview with Lincoln in Philadelphia, Pinkerton says in his letter:

"Undoubtedly this interview made a deep impression on Mr. Lincoln; for it will be remembered the next morning when he sat the audience up the tall, over independence, tall in a burst of patriotic fervor, he exclaimed: 'Now, my friends, can this country be saved upon this basis? The promise of equal rights in the Declaration of Independence. If it can, I will consider myself one of the happiest men in the world if I can help to save it. If it cannot be saved upon that principle, it will be God's word. But if this country cannot be saved without giving up that principle, I was about to say, I would rather be assassinated on the spot than to surrender it.'

GASOLINE

Owing to the continued advances in the cost of gasoline, and the extreme cost of handling it, we will be obliged to advance the price to 25c. per gallon for CASH ONLY, commencing Monday, January 27th.

To our customers that are buying gasoline regularly, we will sell for the next few days, a 50 gallon coupon book, for CASH ONLY, at a reduction of 2 cts. per gallon. If you do not care to pay the advanced price, buy a coupon book and save the difference.

If you don't care to take advantage of this discount, please don't ask us to vary from our rule, as we cannot afford to pay cash for gasoline and sell on credit; regardless of how good our customers may be. We wish to assure every automobile owner and customer our appreciation of his patronage, and assure you this action on our part is only a protection against loss and not a profit-making plan.

We are right on the job and ready to wait on you the minute you stop at our door, and trust we may have a continuance of your business.

GENERAL SICKLES WAS NOT ARRESTED UNTIL TODAY

New York, Jan. 26.—General Daniel E. Sickles remained at his home today, an order for his arrest issued yesterday in Albany remaining in the hands of Sheriff Harburger, who declined last night upon receiving it not to serve it until Monday.

The sheriff said tonight that he would execute tomorrow the order for the General's arrest unless the sum of $22,476, on which he had settled to account, it is charged, as Chancery of the New York Municipal Commission, is paid before the sheriff's deputies reach the Sickles home on their errand. The sheriff believed, however, that friends of General Sickles would furnish bail, and that the affirmative of paying the old soldier in Ludwig Street jail would not be forced.

A movement to raise by subscription the amount of the General's alleged indebtedness and relieve the aged civil war veteran from all possibility of going to jail, was started today by William Solmar, State Comptroller. Mr. Solmar initiated the fund with a subscription of $100 to which Sheriff Harburger added an equal amount.
